What & Why Vermont State Inspection!

If you register your vehicle in Vermont you will be required to get a VSI ("Vermont State Inspection") to drive on the road legally. Those of us who have known about the history of VSI's remember not very long ago it was a relatively easy thing to deal with. In the past the 3 letters in the VSI used to mean Vermont Safety Inspection. Safety is interpreted differently from person to person, shop to shop. Today the inspections include keeping pollution down by monitoring your vehicles emissions of exhaust and fuel vapors.

Also, the requirements for safety and operation have become increasingly strict. Regulations have become more rigid and more is at stake for a shop that wants to maintain its ability to offer VSI to their customers. Although it's once a year you need it, a full service shop will protect its right to continue to provide it to all of its customers all year round. Many discussions occur about why VSI's are so strict and sometimes costly. This is the way VSI's have evolved over the years. The wording in the VSI manual has been updated to reflect our states "green" policies. Not only that, but also vehicle manufacturing has become unique for each make and model, there are different unique parts for almost all cars. This is very different from the past where a muffler was a muffler. Now exhaust systems on vehicles have catalytic converters that are complicated with "one of a kind" parts that are not cheap! We will all continue to experience more complicated and expensive automobile issues (i.e. VSI's) if we want to be independent on the roads in our own motor vehicle along with everyone else.

Twisted Wrench offers VSI that are thorough and detailed but we keep your priorities in mind so the whole process will make sense to you when complying with our state rules.

Just a friendly reminder from the Twisted Wrench team.
